Dear Conductor Rochat:

I am writing on behalf of Vice President Wu Den-yih to thank you for your letter of May 21, 2012, kindly offering your congratulations on his investiture as vice president of the Republic of China.

Vice President Wu heartily appreciates that the people of Taiwan have entrusted him with a mandate to assist President Ma in leading the nation. In the four years ahead he will do everything in his power to help the president defend the sovereignty of this nation and create a fair and just society that enjoys economic stability and development, thereby enabling Taiwan to excel and carve out its own niche on the world stage.

The vice president still recalls with fond memories watching the exceptional performance of Yan Cheng school orchestra conducted by you and how you engaged audiences with such memorable musical experiences. During those years in Taiwan, you not only brought international standards to our symphony orchestras but also enlivened our communities. For this the vice president would like to extend his admiration and appreciation.

Again, I thank you kindly for your thoughtful gesture. On behalf of Vice President Wu and for myself, I extend to you our best wishes for health, happiness, and every success in your endeavors.

Sincerely,

Yu Hsin-ming
